Dear Adam Lee,

The last of the evidence I have for you tonight is proof of NC SBI Special Agent Gerald Thomas involved with manufacturing evidence against Dr. Turner. Thomas was involved in the search warrant Mayodan Police executed against me. Also the other evidence I am reporting to you at the FBI is another child porn set up attempt done on me. It was from a Jeff Lewis but the email was odd so I contacted Jeff to see if it really was from him since what happened to Luke Rudkowski but he told me it wasn't from him and not to open any attachments. I gave my email address password at the time to Garrett Jewel(614-753-8307) a private forensic specialist that worked with Dan Johnson of PANDA. He checked the email from the fake Jeff Lewis and discovered the PDF attachments were of child pornography. It was to set me up with possession and possibly distribution had I forwarded that email without realizing what the attachments were. It was to set up Jeffrey Lewis(252-876-9489) with Distribution and possession.

There is child porn set up attempts going on. The preps know that anyone indicted on a frame up child porn charge will be railroaded into a guilty plea or be found guilty. It is a dirty tactic to get a indictment on child pornography against a potential enemy. I was set up with child porn but since I was to be a sex offender as they said in the threat email they got bold and started going as far as Melissa Melton bragging that they can set people up likely to scare people into shutting their mouths up. The set up on me shut my mouth up and caused me to shut down my website USWGO Alternative News.

Nearly four years after a Davie County jury found him not guilty of killing his wife, Dr. Kirk Alan Turner, a Clemmons dentist, will be back in court to pursue a lawsuit he filed alleging that two agents with the State Bureau of Investigation lied during his trial and manipulated evidence against him.

Judge Stuart Albright will consider a motion to dismiss the lawsuit that Turner filed in Forsyth Superior Court in November 2011. The defendants are SBI Special Agent Gerald Thomas, former SBI Agent Duane Deaver, former SBI director Robin Pendergraft and two unidentified SBI supervisors of Deaver and Thomas.

Turner was acquitted in 2009 by a Davie County jury by reason of self-defense after a month-long trial that eventually was featured on CBS's "48 Hours Mystery." Prosecutors alleged that Turner slashed the throat of his estranged wife, Jennifer Turner, on Sept. 12, 2007, in the house they once shared in Davie County.

Turner maintained that he had killed Jennifer Turner in self-defense with a pocketknife after she attacked him with a large spear.

Deaver, who was fired by the SBI in 2011, is a central figure in problems with the SBI crime lab. Former FBI assistant director Chris Swecker released a critical audit of the SBI crime lab in 2010. N.C. Attorney General Roy Cooper requested the audit after Greg Taylor, who had been convicted of killing a woman in Raleigh in 1991, was exonerated by the N.C. Innocence Commission. Deaver's work in that case came under fire.

In Turner's case, Deaver and Thomas are accused of conducting unscientific tests to prove that a large bloodstain on Turner's T-shirt was the result of Turner wiping a knife on the shirt after he killed his wife.

Thomas also is accused of changing a report. In August 2010, the SBI concluded that Thomas violated SBI practices when he changed the report about the blood evidence in the case. Thomas is still with the SBI, and Pendergraft was removed as SBI director in July 2010.

John Vermitsky, Turner's attorney, declined to comment on the pending lawsuit. Turner did not return a message seeking comment.

Jennifer Canada, a spokeswoman for the SBI, said Friday that it would be inappropriate to comment on pending litigation.

Attorneys for the SBI officials have asked a judge to dismiss the lawsuit for several reasons. They claim governmental immunity and say that officials did not violate Turner's constitutional rights.

They also claim that Turner's claims are barred because they are based on allegations regarding grand-jury testimony and that state law prohibits defendants from disclosing any grand-jury testimony.

In an interview last year, Vermitsky denied that Turner's allegations are based on grand-jury testimony.

During the month-long trial in 2009, prosecutors sought to prove that Turner killed his wife because he was angry over a pending divorce and an alienation of affection lawsuit she had filed against his girlfriend.

At the time that Jennifer Turner was killed, Kirk Turner had moved out. On Sept. 12, 2007, he had returned there to help a friend move some of his items stored at the house. Prosecutors alleged that Turner and the other man, Greg Smithson, had staged the crime scene to cover up the murder and make it look like Turner had killed his wife in self-defense.

Defense attorneys argued that Turner had killed his wife after she attacked him with a 7-foot-long Viking-like spear.

Albright could decide on the motion to dismiss today or at a later point. If Albright does not grant the motion to dismiss, the lawsuit will move forward. A trial date has not yet been set.

JOHN HINTON, Winston-Salem Journal

An attorney for the State Bureau of Investigation must file a response within three days to allegations in a lawsuit that two of its agents manufactured blood evidence in the killing of a Davie County woman to frame her husband on a murder charge.

Dr. Kirk Alan Turner, the Clemmons dentist who was acquitted in 2009 in the killing of his estranged wife, filed a lawsuit in Forsyth Superior Court against the SBI agents and their supervisors.

John J. Aldridge II, a special deputy attorney general in Raleigh, is handling the case for the SBI. He must file a response by Sunday in the case, according to a court order.

John Vermitsky of Winston-Salem, an attorney for Turner, filed the lawsuit Nov. 14. Turner is seeking more than $10,000 in damages.

The defendants are named as Special Agent Gerald Thomas; former Special Agent Duane Deaver; Robin Pendergraft, the former director of the SBI; and two unidentified SBI supervisors of Thomas and Deaver.

"We are going to do our best to make sure that justice is served for Dr. Turner," Vermitsky said Wednesday.

Noelle Talley, a spokeswoman for the SBI, said that the agency will soon respond to the allegations in the Turner's lawsuit. She then declined to comment further, saying the SBI doesn't comment on pending litigation.

Turner didn't return two phone calls seeking comment. Deaver and Pendergraft could not be reached for comment.

After he was indicted in December 2007 on first-degree murder in his wife's death, Turner spent a month in the Davie County Jail, according to the suit. Turner borrowed more than $600,000 from his family and friends to defend himself.

The lawsuit alleges that Thomas and Deaver altered their initial report of the blood evidence in the case to match the prosecution's theory that Turner killed his wife and that he did not kill her in self-defense, as he claimed.

The actions of Thomas, Deaver and Pendergraft caused emotional distress for Turner, and violated Turner's constitutional rights, the lawsuit says.

In August 2010, the SBI concluded that Thomas violated SBI practices when he changed the report about the blood evidence in Turner's case to bolster the prosecution's case against Turner.

In January 2011, the SBI fired Deaver, whose work was at the center of a controversy on the SBI's handling of blood evidence, including Turner's case.

Thomas still works for the agency, Talley said. Pendergraft was removed as SBI director in July 2010.

A Davie County jury acquitted Turner in August 2009 of first-degree murder, ruling that he acted in self-defense.

During his trial, Turner testified that he acted in self-defense when he stabbed Jennifer Turner, his estranged wife, with a pocketknife at their home on Sept. 12, 2007 after she attacked him with a large spear.

The lawsuit alleges that Thomas and Deaver gathered evidence in the case and initially determined that a large bloodstain on Turner's T-shirt was consistent with a bloody hand being wiped on the T-shirt. They also argued that other smaller blood stains on the T-shirt were consistent with blood drips.

After they met with Davie County sheriff's detectives and a prosecutor in January 2008, Thomas and Deaver conducted unscientific tests to shore up the prosecution's theory that Turner's wounds were self-inflicted and that he intentionally killed Jennifer Turner, the lawsuit says.

During Kirk Turner's trial, prosecutors argued that Turner slashed his wife's throat twice because he was angry over their pending divorce and because she had filed an alienation of affection lawsuit against her husband's girlfriend.

The suit accuses Thomas and Deaver of repeatedly videotaping themselves doing forensic tests regarding the blood stains, wiping blood from a knife on a shirt to prove that blood found on Turner's shirt was caused by a knife and not by a hand, as Turner alleged.

The prosecutors alleged that Turner wiping the knife helped prove that he planned the murder.

The lawsuit also accuses Thomas and Deaver of making false and misleading statements during Turner's trial.

Compatriots,

We are having a Patriot Coalition meeting in Charlotte, NC. We wish that you contact me to get registered as a guest speaker at our rally since your a victim of political attacks. We have sent you some information in a few PDF files that you can look at regarding the location of the meeting, and some other important information that is needed before you attend this official event for the Patriot Coalition. Also if you think the email address is suspicious, then don't worry I have decided to switch to Tormail so my emails can have more privacy due to the NSA spying on emails. So don't worry just trust this email since it was sent by yours truly.

I hope we can have a great rally to fight against the tyrannies done by the Congress and Obama.

So join the Patriot Coalition in their new fight against tyranny. Share this with everyone you know, and then download the important PDF documents, or even print them out. Again all the important information is within those documents so give'em a read. You are all important to us and we appreciate you standing up against the violations to our US Constitution.
